

'NARROW GAUGE MERGER

EAST BOSTON'S $3,500,000 HOUSING PROJECT PERILED

Col. Sullivan Declares Fare Increase Would Work No Hardships, Sees About 6,000,000 New Riders

Millions of square feet of land now held by the Boston Port Development Co. and the Neptune Gardens housing project will be taken for the new subway station and the "loop" under the proposed junction of the Narrow Gauge and Boston Elevated and East Boston, it was learned today.

This land is part of the parcels held by William J. McDonald, Boston realtor and associate. They have a $3,500,000 housing project for which they seek federal aid. They are awaiting decision on that aid.

The junction of the "L" and the Narrow Gauge has met with approval on almost every quarter provided it gives better and faster service for residents of Lynn, Revere, Winthrop and Chelsea. This is its aim.

PROTEST FARE JUMP

But a storm of opposition has arisen against any increase in fares for residents of these areas. Civic leaders claim that such an increase is proposed and is an important part of the plan. Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, chairman of the Boston Transit Department, was asked for an explanation of the project today, and he declared that increased revenue for the Elevated is essential.

He maintained, however, that the increase will come with no hardships on anyone.

The cost of taking the land in this development would be practically negligible, he also declared. Opponents of the fare increase have set down the estimate of nine to ten million new fares for the "L" as being aimed at the present users of the Narrow Gauge.

RENT PUT AT $150,000

Col. Sullivan said that this estimate was too high, and that a figure of six million new fares would be correct. These would result from the proposed junction he said, but would work no hardship on commuters.

The project will cost about $4,250,000, Col. Sullivan said. About one million dollars can be secured from Federal government.

"The cost to the Elevated in making the city of Boston, in a 30-year period would be about $150,000 a year," he declared. Representative Thomas F. Sullivan of Revere today told the Boston Evening American for its "altruistic and aggressive" in attacking the "attempts gouging of car riders" of his district.

The American favors this plan of joining transit lines to provide better service, but not for costlier transportation.

PRaises AMERICAN

Representative Carroll's letter reads:

"Allow me to thank you and to extend the appreciation of the citizens of Revere in you. They are deeply grateful for the opposition that your splendid publication, the Boston Evening American, is fostering to the proposed increase in fares.

"The altruistic and aggressive with which your splendid publication has attacked this attempted gouging of the car riders of this district is indeed most commendable."

"It is not one more outstanding example of the public-spirited attitude of a great metropolitan edition."

GREAT AID TO PEOPLE

"We recognize the tremendous power of the press for good and for evil and congratulate you and your paper for your most courageous action in behalf of an already overburdened people."

Revere, Lynn and Winthrop and other sections served by the Narrow Gauge were joined by a newly ally today in their opposition to any increase in fares. Chelsea officials protested against any proposal to raise fares for Chelsea car-

REED ENVIGENS GOLD DEBATE

Washington, Jan. 26 (INS)—The most searching denunciation of President Roosevelt's new gold program yet heard in the Senate debate was voiced today by Senator Reed (R.), of Pennsylvania.

He said the program would plunge the government into speculation, rob banks and citizens of their constitutional rights and initiate "candorously bad governmental practices."

Reed announced the program as a 40 per cent slash in wages for all working people, a 40 per cent reduction in veterans benefits and a 40 per cent cut in the benefits of 35 million insurance policies. He declared the common people would suffer untold hardships as a result of its enactment.

He condemned the placing of a two-billion dollar stabilization fund in the hands of one man. "We are administered by unknown in the dark, without audit or report,"

Nazis Reorganize Labor Into 19 Shop Groups

Berlin, Jan. 26 (API)—Compiling sweeping Nazi labor legislation, Robert Ley, head of the German labor front, decreed today reorganization into individual trades, industries and vocations.

All trade unions and employers' organizations are dissolved under the decree. Already shorn of power, these were gathered by the Nazis in three huge associations called the pillars of the labor front—namely, laborers', employers' and handworkers' associations.

Now the three associations are to be supplanted by 19 national shop groups.

Food, textile, clothing, building, wood, iron and metal, chemistry, printing, paper, transportation, mining, banking and insurance, free professions, agriculture, leather, arts and crafts, stone, commerce, small trades and hand crafts.

The local unit will be the shop, each group presiding into the all-embracing labor front.

BREMER KIDNAP GANG REELED IN MYSTERY

Victim Missing Nine Days Without Any Contact

By THOMAS F. CULLEN

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 26 (INS)—A shroud of mystery still enfolded the fate of Edward G. Bremer, 37-year-old president of the Commercial State Bank, today on the sixth day since his seizure by kidnapers.

John Dillinger, notorious bandit and jail breaker, is one of the suspects in the kidnaping. Police Inspector Charles Tierney said today when told of the capture of Dillinger in Tucson, Tierney added that there was no direct evidence that he had been listed as a suspect with other notorious criminals.

Taken from the streets of this city January 17, Bremer has not been heard from since, and no word has reached his family from the abductors.

Although the $200,000 ransom money demanded was made ready for delivery a week ago, the kidnapers today had made no effort to collect it, which has worried Bremer's family.

Not since the infant son of Col. Charles A. Landberg was kidnapped has so long a period of time elapsed in a kidnaping without the ransom money being paid.

There was some exchange of messages between the abductors and the family of the victim.

'SOCIETY THIEF' POLICE FLY ON FACES COURT CHARGE

Collegiate Peter Zedalis, from Fitchburg, 23-year-old self-styled "society burglar," was arraigned in Roxbury court today on larceny charges, pleaded not guilty and was held in $1000 for trial.

Zedalis confessed to having robbed 17 homes in Brookline, Boston, Hingham, Mass. and Roxbury, and had a list of 20 other "prospects."

The youth also boasted of having stolen a model fair of worth five homes and hotels and of using names of prominent persons he met in later evenings.

Strangely enough the "society burglar" did not come to trial in a fashionable drawing room, but for allegedly looting rooms in two Roxbury lodging houses.

It was his custom, police charge, to hire a room, turn the key over to a confederate for looting the house, or do the job himself.

FIREMEN SAVE FREEMAN'S BOY

Brothers in the flesh and brothers in the fire department saved the life of the first born of Harry E. Moran, driver of Engine 1, Malden, today, by three-quarters of an hour's work with an inhalator before the child had been born apparently lifeless.

Dr. H. L. McDonald could find no spark of life in the infant boy he delivered this morning at the Moran home, 51 Warren st. So sure was he the child was dead, that he baptised him.

Moran telephoned his brother, Deputy Fire Chief William R. Moran, who arrived in record time with a squad of firemen. They went to work and a new life was their reward. The child is apparently in the best of health.

Ace on Radio Is a Terror at Home, Says Mrs. Richmond

To the radio listeners he was an ace entertainer, but to his wife he was the source of unhappiness, brutality and fear.

This was the testimony today of Mrs. Alice E. Richmond of Orchard st., Jamaica Plain, in Suffolk Superior court, when she won an uncontested divorce suit from John Richmond.

Richmond earned $75 a week as air performer, she testified before Judge McCool, but never supported her. He went to night drinking bouts and she became worn out with worry, she said.

"I was scared to death of him," Mrs. Richmond testified, "and I was forced to leave him on the job so hard that I was unable to eat solid food for days."

Judge McCool awarded her custody of her three-year-old daughter and 10 weekly support.

Petition for Fare Protest

Fill in and mail if you wish to voice your protest against fare increase—

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC UTILITIES, ROOM 167, STATE HOUSE, BOSTON

The undersigned oppose any increase in fares or imposition of other extra charges resulting from the proposed junction of the Boston Elevated Railway and the Boston Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Co.

(Signed)

(Name) (No.—Street—City or Town)

Narrow Gauge commuters from Revere, Winthrop, Lynn and other communities were filing letters of protest with the Department of Public Utilities today, recording opposition to any attempt to increase fares to Boston.

The fastest way was the way that hundreds were taking—clipping the coupon printed in the Boston Evening American for their convenience.

Commuters served by the Narrow Gauge may sign the protest coupon themselves and enlist friends and relatives.

When you fill out the coupon, you wish you may attach the names on a separate sheet, but this is not necessary and the better way is to use the coupon.

Do not send them to the Boston Revere Beach, Mass. time. Send your protest directly to the board that will be called upon to pass on any proposed fare increase—The Department of Public Utilities, Room 167, State House, Boston.

Young Bronsky, it was reported to police of the Fields Corner station today by the father, Max Bronsky, suffered his injury late yesterday afternoon in Fallay st. opposite the Burgess school.

Neither the father nor the hospital authorities reported it at the time. When the boy ran home, screaming with pain, the father picked him up and took him, he said, to the hospital, where an emergency operation was performed and the eye removed.

Scar on Eye

Questioned over the telephone, Chief Kittner, who was quite startled over his capture, told of the arrest.

"I noticed he had a scar on the right eye that talked with me," he said. "I then opened his mouth and found that he had a scar on the upper jaw like Cahill. The rest of his description is similar to that on the Somerset letter, regular, except that he may be a little taller."

"George Albany, fingerprint expert here, took his fingerprints which he says don't agree with those on the circular, but has sent them along to Washington."

"A significant thing to me was the fact that when Lewis' picture was being made, he kept squinting his eye as though he did not want the scar to show."

Margaret McCarthy of 8 Marion st., Somerville, was found in a clump of bushes at Hammond and Gorham sts., Cambridge, near the Harvard Divinity school, last Sept. 8, after being missing since the day of the preceding day, when she bilkily went on an errand for her mother.

Cahill, who disappeared about the same time, was first suspected when his abandoned automobile was found. Later a policeman said that he had seen him with a young little girl beside him on the seat of his car.

FACTOR NAMES

3 AS TORTURE KIDNAPERS

Touhy Sneers as Plot

Victim Tells of His Threats to Maim

Criminal Courts Building, Chicago, Jan. 26 (API)—John Factor today identified Roger Touhy and two confederates as the men who kidnaped him for ransom last July.

His face, trembling, Factor three times stepped down from the witness stand, walked dramatically across the courtroom and pointed out Gustav (Gloomy Gus) Schaefer, Albert (Fatty Nose) Kator, and finally Touhy.

The defendants slouched down in their chairs, and all except Touhy gazed at the floor. Touhy looked with a sneer squarely back into Factor's face.

Factor said Touhy was the man who stood before him, partly shielding himself with a blanket, and coming to him to write a letter to be used in ransom negotiations.

He said he saw Kator, "the only kidnapers who was kind to me," as he was changing the bandages on his arm on the first night of his captivity. Schaefer, Factor said, was one of the squad of four men who actually took him prisoner.

Factor made the identification as a victim police in his arrest of the kidnaping, a story of mental suffering, cruelty, and the kind of a person he was, "not your brains" and "cut off an ear and send it to your wife as a souvenir."

He said the kidnapers refused to let him talk to his family and friends, and that Touhy said when asked for a request.

"We don't want the 'G' (Federal government) in on this. We can fix the police, but we don't want anything to do with the 'G'."

At times Factor appeared to be in a breakdown, as he told of the cruelty of his captors.

PHILLIPS BREAKS DOWN SOBBERG AT N. H. DEATH CAMP

FATHER WEEPS AS HE CRIES OUT DENIAL

Youth in Tears When He Asks for His Invalid Mother

Charleston, N. H., Jan. 26.—Hysteria bowed today in the lower court hearing given to Charles L. Phillips, Jr., 17, high school student, charged with the slaying of George L. Thomas, 43, electrical salesman.

Leaping dramatically from his chair as his son entered the courtroom in town hall, and with tears streaming down his cheeks, you a g Phillips father, a father of the slain man, shrieked: "You're innocent! You're innocent! You're innocent!" For a moment the son stood motionless at his father's feet, and then said: "C'm on, crying, Dad! It's tough enough as it is."

Later, however, while bailiffs were still attempting to calm the father, the boy's police escorted him and he, too, broke down and wept bitterly.

SORNS FOR MOTHER
After 10 minutes, the father was quieted, and then young Phillips asked: "How is mother? How is she taking this?"

"She knows you're innocent," the older Phillips replied. "She wants you home."

The accused youth had been driven to the Town Hall here from the county jail at Unity, 15 miles distant, and his father and the boy's counsel, Judge Jacob Bourin, were waiting in the tiny courtroom when the jail group arrived.

After the first outburst had died away, a conference was held with Judge Richard Purdy presiding, and it was agreed that a view of the shooting scene should be taken.

BREARS, SOBBERG, AT CAMP
In four automobiles the group traversed the three and a half miles to the camp owned by the elder Phillips and occupied by Thomas. At the camp, the accused student crouched down in the back of the car and said to Sheriff James Monte, his guard:

"I don't want to get out." "I was persuaded by his counsel, however, to leave the car. All went well until the youth entered the camp, and then he uttered a scream, broke into a fit of weeping, placed his hands over his face and turned away a wall."

His father rushed over to comfort him, but he, too, succumbed to weeping, crying between his sobs: "I know you're innocent! I'll stick with you!"

LEADERS AT O'BRIEN RITES

Outstanding personalities in Boston's sports and school circles today attended the funeral mass for Frederick J. O'Brien, associate director of physical education in the public schools.

The solemn requiem high mass was chanted in St. Francis Assisi Church, South Braintree, by Rev. William V. O'Neil, Rev. John Connelley of North Weymouth served as deacon, Rev. John Burns of South Weymouth was sub-deacon, and Rev. Joseph Connelley of Neponset was present in the sanctuary.

Burial of Mr. O'Brien, who had lived at 18 Wilton ave., Braintree, was in Old Calvary cemetery, West Roxbury.

Among the honorary pall bearers were Patrick Campbell, superintendent of schools; William E. Snow, assistant superintendent of schools; Joseph L. Powers, headmaster of Boston Latin school, and Walter E. Downey, headmaster of the English school.

Taylor Sleeps as Crisis Nears
Chicago, Jan. 26 (AP)—Melvin A. Taylor, 55, president of the First National Bank, was reported shortly holding his own today in his fight against pneumonia.

ONE GIRL BACK HOME, ANOTHER MISSING

Lorraine Hewey Found Safe as Coach at Foxboro High Vanishes

Two girls, one from Dorchester, and the other from Foxboro, brought joy and sorrow to their respective homes today.

One, Lorraine Anita Hewey, 15, had returned safe and sound, after an unexplained absence of 11 days. The other, Hazel Shepard, 18, assistant basketball coach at Foxboro high school, was mysteriously missing.

Lorraine Hewey was reunited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon N. Hewey, of 24 Freeman st., Dorchester, as a result of a story published in the Boston Evening American.

Her disappearance had been due to a misunderstanding at her home and the fact that she is the largest girl in her class at Grover Cleveland Junior High School.

She and another woman came to my door and when I answered the door, they said, 'Hello, Jim,' said Robertson. I told her to get out and stay out and they ran off the porch. I never saw her again until I came back here."

Will G. Beardslee, of the Department of Justice, arranged for Robertson to hear the sailor's story. When the ex-convict heard the statement under oath he shouted: "Do you think that woman would have come across the country?"

The girl's father is president of the Foxboro High School and she is a graduate of Foxboro high school. Since graduation, last year, Miss Shepard has been assisting in coaching basketball, and also acting as a secretarial school in Boston.

She was driven to this city by her brother, who waited outside a furniture store where Miss Shepard was immediately to work, and in his car. In the afternoon the missing girl arrived at 103 East Boston Airport and said she was returning to Foxboro by train. She failed to reach there.

Residents of Medford, Malden, Everett and sections to the north of Boston viewed with considerable anxiety today a huge column of black smoke spouting out over a wide area, blotting out the sun.

Quickly the anxious group sprang to their telephones and called police and fire departments and newspaper offices with inquiries as to where the conflagration was raging.

Their fears were soon allayed, however, when it was learned that the Boston & Maine Railroad was conducting one of its periodical and personal fire on the marshlands in Medford, near the Revere beach parkway and the Fellowship, just beyond Wellington Bridge.

Unless equipment, wreck-battered freight cars, damaged coaches and odds and ends are dumped beside a special railroad siding on the marshlands from time to time, saturated with inflammable fluids and then burned.

After the wood and other combustibles are destroyed the metals are reclaimed. The smoke today was visible over an area of from eight to ten miles.

'Enoch' Says He Saw Ex-Wife After War

Oklahoma City, Jan. 26 (AP)—Federal officials announced today an affidavit has been made by James Zorland Robertson that his first wife came to his Massachusetts home and saw him in 1925, several years before she brought suit to collect war risk insurance on the presumption he was dead.

However, Mrs. Nora V. Demaree, the former wife who obtained a divorce after waiting several years for Robertson to return, denied she had visited her "lost" husband.

Former Gov. Henry S. Johnston, attorney for Mrs. Demaree, declared the story false.

WILL QUASH SUIT
Johnston was expected to appear today before the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals, where the $5000 insurance suit is pending, and admit the identity of Robertson had been established. The suit, won by Mrs. Demaree in the Federal district court, then may be returned to the lower court and dismissed.

Robertson was discovered by federal agents, working as chief pharmacist's mate in a Chelsea naval hospital under the name of John Maxwell.

The veteran was emphatic that the woman he saw at the door of his home in Everett, Mass., in 1925 was his former wife.

"She and another woman came to my door and when I answered the door, they said, 'Hello, Jim,' said Robertson. I told her to get out and stay out and they ran off the porch. I never saw her again until I came back here."

Will G. Beardslee, of the Department of Justice, arranged for Robertson to hear the sailor's story. When the ex-convict heard the statement under oath he shouted: "Do you think that woman would have come across the country?"

Henry Clay Bull, of Brooklyn, convicted slayer of a policeman, today rode for five hours from Greenfield to Charleston.

With him was Sheriff Fred Downe, of Franklin County, taking him to state's prison, where a death house cell awaits the Zerkowid killer.

Bull was sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of Feb. 4. Governor Ely has granted a reprieve until the week of February 18.

Meanwhile, he will be quartered in the Cherry Hill section of the prison and will be in the company of Herman Snyder and John A. Donnellon, who are also enjoying a reprieve from death sentences.

Lake Bull, they engaged in a filling station holdup, killing James Ely in Somerville in 1931. Bull shot Officer Albert C. Jordan in Greenfield last August 7.

PLANE WHISKS JOHNSON BACK TO CAPITAL

NRA Boss Says Code Violators Will Face Drastic Penalties

Hugh Johnson, NRA administrator, left his hotel in Boston at 1:30 p. m. today to start his return trip to Washington in an army airplane which brought him here so speedily yesterday that he arrived an hour ahead of schedule and his welcoming committee.

With him went his secretary, Miss Frances Robinson, and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. Grady, who accompanied him last night to Worcester, where Johnson stirred 3000 men and women in a forefist talk at a banquet of the Worcester Chamber of Commerce.

Johnson's party left the airport at 2 o'clock. His speech in Worcester last night was a defense of the NRA against the criticism and the theory that its weaknesses would be completely overhauled as soon as possible.

In fighting them he declared that he carried over to "the few who think it is clever to outsmart Uncle Sam." An NRA spokesman said that the NRA came to its present position through an illegitimate advantage.

He declared that 90 per cent of complaints against the NRA came from concerns that wanted to extort their workers.

SMOKING BAN AT SALEM MAN IN 3D GIRL CHARGE
Pretty ladies of Boston's burlesque stage seemed likely today to be stripped of one more of their few remaining veils.

That's the veil of tobacco smoke that has, however diaphanous, shrouded their otherwise unadorned charms when displayed, these 30-odd long years past, in front of the city's oldest theaters.

Forewarning of a ban upon smoking by burlesque show audiences was given by Mayor Mansfield, who announced today that extension of the smoking privilege to new theaters has been refused.

Get in today or tomorrow - while pickin' are best!

18.85 buys any o'coat up to $25

22.85 buys 2 trouser suits up to $30

There's a "whispering campaign" afoot! It's being directed toward our HALF-YEARLY SALE of the season's best sellers. It was started by men who bought clothes here, during the first few days of this event. And it has spread like blazes! We're delighted—because this particular "whispering campaign" is bringing us the biggest January business in our history • • • What's all the talk about? Perhaps our selections—which are quite a bit larger than most men expect in a sale. Perhaps our exceptional fitting service—which adds pleasure to buying. Or maybe it's just plain dollars and cents—for on many lots we've cut prices almost 1/2 • • • Remember, these price-cuts cover the cream of our regular stock (except staples). Pick what you need, now—and you'll thank your lucky stars, for months to come.

INSULT TO FLEE IN SEAPLANE

Athens, Greece, Jan. 26 (AP)—Samuel Insull has chartered a hydroplane and ordered it held ready for a flight to an unknown destination. It was rumored to-day.

"The Greek Government will deport Insull February 1. If he does not leave voluntarily by January 31," said a statement released by Premier Ioannidis.

"On the other hand, the Greek Government will prolong the permit until his health is satisfactory."

"It would not be fitting for any country to forcibly deport any sick man."

Democrat Booms Senator Johnson

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Rep. McGrath, Democrat from former President Herbert Hoover's congressional district in California, today fired an opening gun to re-elect Senator Johnson, Republican of California, this fall.

McGrath pledged Johnson his support and called upon all Democrats in the state to do likewise. Reports from California indicate Dr. Walter Doster, president of Whittier College, of which Mr. Hoover is a graduate, will oppose Johnson for the Republican nomination.

Society Woman's Felon Plea to Bring Shakeup

ing a portion of its contents, is already casting about for a successor to Gill as director of the Norfolk camp.

Hagood, for whom Mrs. Winslow sought every kindness in her letter to the house officer after he had been caught with three others digging his way out of the prison, is known at the colony as "the handsome man in Norfolk."

He is serving a sentence for armed robbery and has a bad record.

DIG OUT IN RECESS

In her letter Mrs. Winslow asked that he be given an opportunity to make good, and added that Supt. Gill had been kind enough to remove from Hagood's record the notation that he and three others confessed to the attempted escape several months ago.

She also wrote in the letter that Hagood was making excellent progress in his study of shorthand and typewriting.

It was apparently between typewriting and shorthand classes that Hagood and three other had been, George Van Huff, Donald Davenport and Bill Troy, were engaged in picking and shoveling a tunnel under the prison wall.

TROY OUT, THEN IN

The disclosure regarding Hagood's record led to further inquiry along this line and it was learned that Mark C. Rozer, supervising house officer at the colony, had scratched out with a penknife the notations on the record cards of Van Huff and Davenport that they had confessed to the attempted escape.

Apparently no effort was made to keep Troy's record clean because very shortly thereafter—perhaps coinciding the night—he sawed his way out of the colony. Later he was captured and for his aid sent to state prison in Charlestown.

HIS SIX PRISON FRIENDS

Questioning of workers at Norfolk—and the state auditor has been up against a barrier of reticence from the very beginning—indicates that Hagood was one of the most pampered prisoners and that he had no less than six "sponsors," that is persons of wealth and influence who were taken an amateur interest in penological work, and especially in his case.

Although the black mark was removed from their records, Hagood and Van Huff, known to his fellows as "The Dutch Burger"—because he is Dutch and a burglar—lost choice jobs at the camp and their dormitory rooms.

Davenport, however, is still in a dormitory and has a fine job in the powerhouse—where he could, if he had the inclination, shut off all the power in the prison.

FAVORED BAD PRISONERS

The Hagood incident will be a high spot in Hurley's report to Gov. Rye. The report will show that influence was brought to bear on Gill by wealthy sponsors to keep the institutional records of certain bad behaving prisoners clean so their chances for early parole would be helped.

There was never any move to send those who tunneled under the wall back to Charlestown for safer keeping; had there been, Troy would never have escaped. The news of the escape attempt was kept secret for two months, the investigation shows.

In large part, the changes in records and the subsequent inability of the parole board to get the true records from Norfolk, in part because of the changes, are responsible for the collapse of rehabilitation attempts.

28 BACK IN PRISON

They constitute the reason why 28 convicts, paroled in two years from Norfolk are either in State Prison now for new felonies or are fugitives on various charges, including murder.

An astonishing instance of what investigators consider to be a deliberate attempt to mislead the parole board is contained in present efforts to obtain a parole for Arnold Verd, of Medford.

Verd is a gunman. He was convicted of armed robbery. He almost killed a policeman, firing a bullet that passed through the policeman's coat.

Powerful influences are at work now to obtain a pardon for him. His record, prepared for the parole board at the colony, classifies him as a model prisoner.

CLERK NEVER FINISHED

Yet the investigation has revealed that Verd and another prisoner at Norfolk were caught re-handling in a flagrant violation of the colony regulations—one that called for drastic punishment. And the probe, proceeding farther, brings out that Verd was never punished, although his companion had his freedom privileges taken away.

Another queer condition brought to light with regard to the records is that they do not come directly from the colony house officers to the parole board although the house officers are the best equipped to know the prison records of the convicts.

The reports sent to the parole board are compiled by Rozer, supervising house officer, from incomplete records, the inquiry shows. Rozer is one of several officials at the colony whose names are now before the civil service commission.

Rozer was not a civil service appointee but was one of many appointments of Supt. Gill, and he never served as a house officer, although the civil service rules require the supervisor to have been a house officer himself.

Subtle British Diplomacy Weaning U. S. Away From Its Traditional Neutrality

ing confidence in it, let us say frankly at once, there is little or nothing more that Europe can do.

"Every engagement into which European countries may enter is at present undermined by a complete uncertainty as to America's attitude.

"We do not know whether America would in fact exercise her influence at a time of crisis to prevent war, and to secure a settlement by pacific means.

"We do not even know that, for reasons quite independent of the issue itself, she would not interfere with the action taken for this purpose by members of the league.

"We do not know that if economic pressure were exercised by league members in accordance with their engagements against one of their number whom America herself recognized to have resorted to war in breach both of the covenant and Kellogg Pact, America would not protect the interests of her commerce under pre-war rule as to the rights of neutrals and belligerents.

"And whilst these uncertainties exist, it is impossible that European countries should have sufficient confidence in the collective system to modify their national policies.

"What is needed if the world is to feel that America is really a source of strength and not of possible weakness to the structure on which peace depends is an official definition and declaration of the American attitude."

Sir Arthur Salter then suggests that the United States make the following declaration:

"That the principle of the Kellogg Pact, condemning war as an instrument of national policy is one which will not only determine America's own policy but will be the criterion with reference to which she will determine her action towards the actions of other signatories:

"That she will not recognize that any country which she herself judges to have resorted to war in breach of the Kellogg Pact has any of a pre-war belligerent's rights:

"That if America in the exercise of her own unfettered judgment, considers that action taken by league members under Article 16 is designed solely to stop illegal war by such a country, America will at least not interfere so as to give aid and succor to it:

"And that in case of actual war or threatened resort to war, she will (while retaining her ultimate right to independent judgment) be ready to consult with the other Kellogg Pact signatories by such methods as may be opportune, but in such a way as not to replace or weaken the machinery of the league members."

Now study carefully the following declaration by Mr. Norman Davis at Geneva during the disarmament conference on May 22, 1933.

Mr. Davis declared:

"I wish to make it clear that we are ready not only to do our part toward the substantive reduction of armaments but, if this is effected by general international agreement, we are also prepared to contribute in other ways to the organization of peace.

"In particular we are willing to consult with other states in case of a threat to peace, with a view of averting conflict.

Item for Item, British View

"Further than that, in the event that the states, in conference, determine that a state has been guilty of a breach of the peace in violation of its international obligations and take measures against the violator, then, if we concur in the judgment rendered as to the responsible and guilty party, we will refrain from any action tending to defeat such collective effort which the states may thus make to restore peace."

Almost item for item, an American representative presents a doctrine suggested by British statesmen and prepared with the aid of British statesmen in an attempt to bring the Kellogg Pact and the League of Nations closer.

Let us quote Sir Arthur Salter further as to the procedure of promulgating this doctrine in behalf of the United States.

He writes:

"The exact form and precise procedure are, of course, unimportant if it is in substance America's attitude and if it can be declared.

"IT MIGHT TAKE THE FORM OF A PRESIDENTIAL DECLARATION, which, if in accordance with the predominant public opinion, would become a part of the traditions of American policy. LIKE THE MONROE DOCTRINE, or it might be embodied in resolutions of the Senate and House of Representatives."

Now Great Britain, France and Geneva have been informed by agents of the administration that this policy WILL BE ENUNCIATED IN A PRESIDENTIAL DECLARATION.

It will not be contained in the convention of disarmament, which will take the form of a multilateral treaty to be signed by all nations.

New American Doctrine

The declaration will be in the form of a unilateral statement by the President.

This statement would constitute A NEW AMERICAN DOCTRINE, and would NOT HAVE TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE SENATE.

Only the disarmament convention or treaty would be submitted for ratification.

The presidential doctrine, spokesmen of the administration informed France, is proposed as a concession to France. It is intended TO MEET SOME OF THE CLAIM OF FRANCE FOR SECURITY in return for France agreeing to take steps toward disarmament.

The most prominent French statesman, who is playing a leading role in the disarmament discussions, has agreed that this proposed doctrine is a sufficient concession toward a security pact and that he would accept it and would induce France to accept it.

The American Senate might well watch events in Geneva and Washington during the next few weeks.

The Senate might well ask Mr. Norman Davis just how authoritatively he represents President Roosevelt on this question, and if he does not represent President Roosevelt, why he is retained as President Roosevelt's representative.

JAFSIE PUSHES LINDY HUNT

Montreal, Jan. 26 (AP)—A 74-year-old man has dedicated his remaining years and his modest life savings to a single-handed hunt for the men who got away with $50,000 ransom in the Lindbergh kidnap case.

Dr. John F. Condon of New York, the famous "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh case, continued today his scrutiny of rogues' photographs at detective headquarters, seeking one that would lead to identification of the ransom taker.

Dr. Condon attempted to establish contact with the kidnapers by means of advertisements which he signed "Jafsie" (J. F. C.).

On the night of April 2, 1932, near a Bronx, N. Y., cemetery, Jafsie paid over the ransom money. "Since then," Dr. Condon said today, "some people have suspected me of having kept the money. I have set out to prove my innocence. I intend to visit the rogues' galleries of every city on the North American continent. If necessary, to see if I can find the faces of the men with whom I dealt. I hope to bring them to justice before I die."

Montreal is the 27th city Dr. Condon has visited in his hunt.

PARDON FOR U.S. GROUP HELD UP

Madrid, Jan. 26 (AP)—Four Americans, in jail at Palma, Mallorca, for assaulting a civil guard, must remain until next week.

The Ministry of Justice discovered it did not have the prisoners' written request for a pardon which the law requires.

The Americans—Mr. and Mrs. Clinton D. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass., Roger P. Mann of New York and Edmund A. Blodgett of Stamford, Ct.—later received permission to submit a telegraphic petition. It was received, however, after officials concerned had left the capital for the week-end.

Foreign War Vets Meet Tomorrow

Over 500 officers of various Veterans of Foreign Wars will attend a mid-year conference in Gardner Auditorium, State House, tomorrow afternoon. Commander Walter G. Howard will preside.

Eddie Woods, All-Around Champion Cowboy, says:

"To have nerves that can take it, I smoke only Camels. I've tried them all but Camels are my smoke! They have a natural mildness, and I like their taste better. Camels do not jangle my nerves, even when I smoke one after another."

"COWBOYS NEED HEALTHY NERVES — AND, BELIEVE ME, SO DO HOUSEWIVES"

Mrs. Phyllis L. Potter, Home Maker, Montclair, New Jersey, says:

"I don't doubt but what it takes healthy nerves to ride an outlaw horse! But any woman who is a home maker will agree with me that shopping, cleaning, answering the doorbell a dozen times a day, and tending to all the other duties of running a household are enough to jangle anybody's nerves. I know that I have to be careful in choosing my cigarettes. I am a confirmed Camel smoker because I can smoke Camels freely without a hint of jumpy nerves. And they are the mildest cigarette I ever smoked!"

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Fortunate indeed is that modern man or woman who does not get nervously upset. Raw, jangled nerves seem, all too often, to be the order of the day.

If nerves are your problem, we suggest a check-up now—on your eating, sleeping, and smoking. Get a fresh slant on your smoking by trying Camels. Much is heard about the tobaccos used in various cigarettes. But this is a fact, as any impartial leaf-tobacco expert will tell you:

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS

NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES...NEVER TIRE YOUR TASTE

than any other popular brand. An important fact to nervous people!

Everywhere you see Camels smoked more and more. People do care about mildness...about good taste...about their nerves. And Camels never get on your nerves...never tire your taste.

Soviet Apology to Tokio Related

Tokio, Jan. 26 (INS)—Soviet Russia has expressed its regrets over publication in Moscow newspapers several weeks ago of reports that Russian agents had seized allegedly secret documents divulging a "Japanese plot" to seize the Chinese Eastern Railway.

This was announced by Foreign Minister Hirota today.

Farm Bond Bill Up to Roosevelt

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The House today completed congressional action on the administration bill to put a full federal guarantee behind farm mortgage bonds.

With less than 10 minutes discussion and without a roll call vote, the House adopted a conference report settling differences with the Senate.

BYRD BUILDS 4 MILE ROAD

Admiral Byrd's flagship, Bay of Whales, Antarctica, Jan. 26 (via Mackay Radio) (AP)—Add road-building to the accomplishments of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's second Antarctic expedition. Beaten hard by the feet of men, dogs and the heavy tread of tractors, a 15-foot highway has been shaped over the four and a half miles across the frozen flooring of the bay from the ship to the barrier on the run to Little America.

Over this smooth road moves an endless, night-and-day transport, 15 dog teams pulling sledges heaped high with boxes, three tractors hauling other sledges bearing gasoline.

Add to this train, the monoplane "Miss American Airways" makes trips every half-hour carrying food supplies to the camp from where the stores are taken off the flagship.

BILL CUTS $80 TAX TO $72

Washington, Jan. 26 (INS)—The 10 per cent deduction for earned income, proposed by the House ways and means committee in the new tax bill would benefit the salaried man as follows:

A married man with no dependents, receiving $4500 a year, already has a $2500 deduction, leaving the amount subject to the 4 per cent normal income tax at $2000. His tax is $80. With the earned income deduction his tax would be cut $8 to $72.

A married man, under the same circumstances, with a salary of $5000 would have his tax cut $12 a year.

The single man, whose present exemption is $1000 would benefit further by the 10 per cent reduction for earned income.

All income earned to $2000 would be considered earned income even though part of it came from dividends or interest on bonds.

Strike Starts in New York Hotels

New York, Jan. 26 (INS)—Scheduled for 3 p. m. the strike of hotel cooks and waiters was off to a premature start today with the dismissal of 80 hotel waiters and bus boys from their posts at two mid-town hotels.

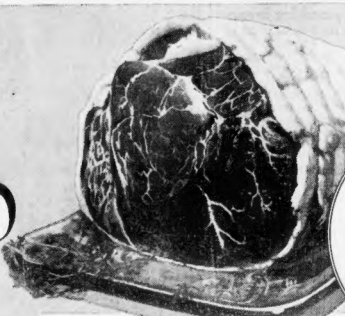

The strikers left their posts at Hotel Lincoln and the new Western Hotel, and forced the closing of the main dining rooms and grill rooms.

MRS. HERBERT LYMAN opened her brownstone front last evening for the musical which included Miss Margaret Dellinger Barney, soprano; Mr. Edwin Bibby, tenor; Mrs. Lewis A. Armstrong, pianist; Mr. Royal Johnson, violinist and Mr. George Brown, cellist.

Miss Barney was attractive in red crepe with corsage of gardenias . . . the audience seemed to enjoy her singing very much indeed . . . the selection "Billy Boy," bringing down the house . . . we remember singing it in the kindergarten.

It was regrettable that the hostess, Mrs. Lyman, was unable to be present . . . her niece, Miss Laura Dodge, a debutante of this season, fell from her horse yesterday afternoon and was injured. Miss Ruth Lyman, received the guests in her mother's absence and made a charming hostess . . . lovingly looking in leaf green bag-lady crepe which set off her blonde hair.

Faith Barney, the artist's sister, assisted in seating the guests in a lip-slick red gown . . . attractive Ranselle Cochrane in satin skirt and chaise longue blouse, served bouillon and crackers after the concert, as did Olga Monks, picturesque in sapphire. Miss Crepe with pink corsage and trimming . . .

Engagement Tea Planned

MRS. JOHN HATCHER is giving an engagement tea on Sunday afternoon for the newly engaged Miss Harriet Smith and her fiancé, Mr. Mason Whiting, at her beautiful studio on Chestnut st. . . . Miss Smith is the attractive daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and is a singer of talents, being a pupil of Mme. Loretta Lauretti, who will be one of the guest artists at Mrs. Lyman's musical on Feb. 1 . . . Mr. Whiting is tall, and very distinguished looking and has been listed among the eligible bachelors since his college days . . . during the summer months he has lived at the Cornish Yacht Club in Marblehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Inches of Chestnut Hill have just returned from a delightful cruise in the West Indies . . .

Miss Frances Goodwin of Hamilton has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Little (Janice Vaughan-Smith) at Sewickley, Pa.

Mr. H. J. C. Mackenzie (you ladies may remember he brought his sense of humor to Miss Mills' Literary Mornings last year and is very good-looking) is giving a series of readings at Jordan Hall on Saturday mornings . . . his subject for this week will be Rudyard Kipling and his poems, a writer whom this generation hears all too little about. The tickets are very moderately priced so that students and the "hard-up" will be able to attend.

Ted Shaw and his colleague, Barton Mumaw, will be guests of the Sydney Windows while he is filling his engagement in Boston.

Miss Nancy Morison will do a tableau with the Baron William T. Fair, "The Love Dream," at the performance of Hansel and Gretel on Tuesday evening, January 30, at Munroe Hall, Trinity Court.

Entertained at Campaign Tea

MRS. H. B. STEARNS and her daughter, Miss Anna Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomas, Mrs. Albert G. Liscomb, Mrs. A. M. Moody, Miss Beatrice Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Gould and daughter, Miss May, Mrs. G. T. Hartsford, Mr. and Mrs. G. Priester, Mrs. Robert Rantoul, Miss K. Kimball, Mrs. Charles W. Talbot and daughter, Miss Charlotte, Miss Agnes Mills and Miss C. N. Amory, house guests of the Hotel Lincolnshire, were among the invited guests who were present at the tea which the hotel gave Thursday afternoon, January 25, for the benefit of the Boston Emergency Relief Campaign drive.

Mrs. Albert T. Gould was the hostess on this occasion and the pourers were the Mesdames James Hopkins and Willis H. Fisher. An interesting talk on the drive by Mr. Richard P. Fuller was one of the features of the tea. The Mesdames Jean Fuller and May Gould were the ushers.

JUNIOR LEAGUERS DON SMOCKS FOR CONCERT

MRS. W. H. DAVIES MRS. W. F. KING MRS. LEONARD WHEELER, JR. MRS. JOSEPH T. WALKER

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE GLEE CLUB resumed their activities yesterday afternoon when they went to St. Luke's Home for Convalescents in Roxbury, and gave a concert for the shut-ins. The group pictured all wore smocks and they from their honeymoon in Switzerland and are occupying their new house in Winthrop. Their wedding was one of the loveliest of the late fall.

Cecilian Guild Plans Bridge and Tea at Kenmore Next Month
THE CECILIAN GUILD of Boston announces a luncheon and bridge party at the Hotel Kenmore, on Saturday, Feb. 3, the luncheon to start at one o'clock. This distinctive club has a small limited membership and a very interesting history.

In the Somerville High School gymnasium, on Tuesday evening, United States Marshal John J. Murphy is chairman of the dance for Somerville and Council Eugene A. F. Burnett, is the treasurer. The following committee are assisting: Miss Florence Ramsey, Miss Rita Bryan, Mrs. John J. Murphy, Mrs. J. Edward Cotter, Mrs. Frank P. McNamara, Mrs. Josephine Carroll, Mrs. George Kilbury and Mr. Hart Grady and Mr. John P. Kolch.

in the social world
With Dorothy Whipple Fry
MISS TASHA TUDOR, daughter of Mrs. Rosamond Tudor of Beacon Hill, is creating quite a sensation with her dancing this year. It will be remembered how charming she was in "Mignon" given at the Elizabeth Peabody House earlier in the month wearing a quaint old fashioned costume, half carried in the middle, and even the beauty of a delicately carved cane the relic of a by-gone day.

Miss Amy Long is having an interesting season. Not only is she widely feted, but at the same time, is doing much work among the needy. Her smart costume of tan (worn with a colorful necktie, and a pair of brilliant hat) turned down over one eye, showing that she is here to full advantage. Miss Helen Cunningham is a social favorite. She is the sister of Miss Amy Long this year's smartly dressed debutante wearing a particularly good looking Scotch tweed dress with high collar and Mac West sleeves. A matching brimmed hat and a general air of chic and smartness. Also among those to be mentioned as knowing how to dress and then taking the time to attend to the nicety of details in blonde, vivacious and petite little Catherine Richardson. Her air of smartness is greatly accentuated by the way in which she wears that saucy sailor-shaped hat of hers, and we liked the wide frilled collar tremendously that she wears on her green morning frock. Mrs. Abbel Peterson is among the outstanding of the society matrons noted not only for her beautiful figure and charming manner, but for the facilities that she always achieves. The sapphire blue evening gown is a noticeably lovely creation.

Dinner Parties to Precede Ball

MARTHA ROGERSON has been appointed chairman of the committee which is planning a morning movie for children on Saturday, Feb. 17, at the Exeter Street Theater in Boston. This event is to be held in the interests of St. Monica's Home, 125 Highland st., Roxbury.

Among the parties scheduled are those of Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Rust, Jr., and a number of the members of the late, Mrs. Newman's orchestra will entertain the guests and then all will go to the Statler for the dance in the Imperial Ballroom.

New patronesses for the ball, announced by Mrs. Mattingly Thayer's committee are as follows: Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mrs. Henry C. Clark, Mrs. Charles A. Coddien, Mrs. Redington M. De Cordia, Mrs. Leavitt L. Edgar, Mrs. Richard T. Fisher, Mrs. Waldo E. Forbes, Mrs. John C. Kely, Mrs. Howard A. Johnson, Mrs. George A. Lyon, Mrs. Amelia Peabody, Mrs. Howard E. Plimpton, Mrs. James J. Phelan, Mrs. Allan A. Friday, Mrs. Hugh D. Scott, Mrs. Johnathan H. Sprague, Mrs. F. Harold Tolman, Mrs. Joseph O. Thorpe, Mrs. Ralph R. Williams and Mrs. Sidney Winslow, Jr.

Debs Hear Talk on Emergency Campaign

Provisional members of the Junior League, numbering about 100 debutantes, who were elected this season, heard Miss Helen Morton speak on the aims of the Emergency Campaign this morning at league headquarters.

Mrs. Bartlett Harwood and Mrs. H. McKnight Frambort are pinning for Mrs. Gleason King, who was scheduled to speak at three gatherings today, but whose many speaking engagements for the campaign have forced her to take a rest. Mrs. Harwood took over the party at the Hotel Vendome, for which Mrs. George Clark acted as hostess at 11 o'clock, and she is the speaker at the Boston Turn-of-the-Century Association's fashion show 1224 Newbury st., where Mrs. King was to speak at 2 o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham's party at 8:30 this evening, at the Commonwealth ave. house, will be addressed by Mrs. Franchot. Miss Katherine A. Wells speaks at the Rindell House home of Mrs. Herbert M. Dole.

Mrs. Edwitt P. Saitonall, at her home, Mrs. Julia Dulinian will be joint hostesses at 240 Saitonall ave., Chestnut Hill, at 11 o'clock, when Mr. Richard Fuller spoke.

Law Cools Wedding Potages of Harried Film Stars

Convicts' Arsenal, Rum, Dope Seized - As Gang Rule Ends in Prison

COMM. MACCORMICK

CANS OF LIQUOR, STACKS OF ARMS ON ISLAND
The new commissioner of corrections of New York, Austin H. McCormick, and prison keepers the weapons seized in the convicts' arsenal, the milk cans filled with liquor and home brew and the narcotics found in the cells on Welfare Island (formerly Blackwell Island). Convict leaders ruled the place and gave the warden orders.

PRISON GANG BOSSES MERELY CONVICTS ONCE MORE

Prisoners herded behind the bars at New York's Welfare Island (formerly Blackwell's) all equal once again with gang rule ended. The overlords of the underworld, who waxed fat on liquor and fine foods as they sold dope to the unfortunates, have been shorn of power and are merely convicts again. A sweeping inquiry is under way. (L. N. F.)

ALTAR DETOURS IRK FILM STARS

Divorce—in the fast-moving marital life of Hollywood is often inconvenient. At the present time technicalities of the laws of separation are holding up the marriage plans of several stars, although only temporarily.

Perhaps the most important, and surely the most uncertain instance, is the much-rumored romance of Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone. Joan's divorce from Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., becomes final in April, and although responses to continued inquiries of future developments have been evasive, Tone's constant attention—professionally and otherwise—have led those in the know to consider it a sure thing.

YOUNG DOUG EVASIVE
Meanwhile Joan's ex-husband admits that he is "much interested" in Miss Gertrude Lawrence, English stage star, and although Miss Lawrence recently wore an engagement ring, she refused to admit young Doug was the man.

Adolph Menjou has announced his intention to marry Verree Teasdale when his divorce from Kathryn Carver becomes final in August. Miss Teasdale happens to be free to marry any time, since her divorce was obtained more than a year ago.

A career seems more important than marriage to Lela Lane, whose divorce from Lew Ayres will become final Feb. 3, although she admitted she was "very fond" of Al Hall, a Hollywood director. In the meantime romantic rumors are linking the names of Mr. Ayres and Ginger Rogers.

BACKLASH PLEADS
Miriam Jordan, another English actress, who has a Mexican and an American divorce, confesses she is engaged to a "man in New York," but Christmas is the earliest date the law will allow for another marriage.

Mae Clarke and Sidney Blackmer were considering waiting up the aisle for their priest on the date of his divorce from Lenora Ulric became final last August. Mae, former wife of Lew Brown, hasn't consented yet, but Blackmer's "weekly proposals" may succeed in defeating her desire for a career.

B. U. President Hails War Photos as Educational

"Honor to the man and the woman who by picturing modern warfare as it actually is, strips it of its alleged glory."

This was the comment today of Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University and one of the leading educators of the world, in discussing the Floyd Gibbons collection of uncensored World War pictures now appearing exclusively in the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Dr. Marsh, known in the world of education as holding most conservative ideas—a busy man of few words—found time to discuss the war pictures at length.

Dr. Marsh took occasion to criticize war as "organized insanity," and he declared that the Gibbons pictures were fulfilling a service to the American people in bringing home more vividly than have any other agency, the horrors of war and the need for preparedness.

"One reason why history has been so largely written with the point of the sword," said Dr. Marsh, "is because each new generation has been led to believe that war is glorious. We must stop repeating this lie. Every day the science of physics and chemistry and biology are making war more and more infamous."

"There is no glory in mud and lice, and being shot at by an enemy in miles away, and shooting at an enemy you cannot see. War is organized insanity."

"Honor to the man and the woman who by picturing modern warfare as it actually is, strips it of its alleged glory and shows the on-coming generation to see it for the brutal and brutalizing thing it is."

The first installment of these uncensored pictures appeared in the Boston Sunday Advertiser last Sunday. Five full pages will be printed each Sunday.

Last week thousands of persons who wished to see the first installment of these uncensored pictures, were disappointed when copies of the Boston Sunday Advertiser were exhausted. Order your copies for the coming, and succeeding Sundays, today.

CONVICTS GO ON DOPE STRIKE

New York, Jan. 26 (INS)—A strike began in the prison-manned bakery of the Welfare Island prison today as an aftermath of the raid by a force under the new commissioner of correction, Austin H. McCormick, which disposed of the gangster prisoners who had been running the institution.

The usual questions of hours and wages did not enter into this strike. The seven men striking declared they would work no longer unless supplied with the dope they were used to getting.

The walkout strengthened the belief of Commissioner McCormick that there is still a large amount of dope to be uncovered on the island. Searchers were directed to penetrate every nook and corner.

Gang 'Ride' Suit Is Lost by Widow

New York, Jan. 26 (INS)—A gangland "ride" is not an accidental death. That was the ruling of Justice L. A. Valentine, entered today in a suit by Mrs. Fannie Durst to recover $10,000 as double indemnity on an insurance policy of her husband, Abe.

Durst, according to counsel, was an aide of Irving (Waxey Gordon) Wexler, and was "taken for a ride" by underworld rivals in a Beer zing war.

Three years later, Dr. Rutherford married Dr. Charles Alton Rutherford, her second cousin. It was in 1917. In 1922, Pauline joined the ranks of Polly's ex-husbands.

In 1929, Hugh Chisholm Leighton, millionaire hotel man, became husband No. 4 on Pauline's list.

Beauties Carry On For 'Flo' JAPS PROTEST DUCE ARTICLE

By PEGGY DOYLE

With gold coin stag and even Broadway's easy come easy go, the "Great Gatsby" would probably find this an oddity.

When a first night chorus number closed to his satisfaction it was one of the "Flo" Ziegfelds, a beautiful, slender, and expensive ten dollar beauty among the members of the chorus.

"Why 'Silver Dollar' Tabor was a phlegm compared to Golden Ziegfeld, if you ask one of these gorgeous girls," remarked Ruby Connolly at the Hotel Boston, where she and another friend, the famous "Flo" Ziegfeld, were sitting.

But to get back to "Flo" Connolly, he is one of the most celebrated dancers in the world. He admits that his happiest moment was when he received the honor of being named "Flo" Ziegfeld.

"She's what I mean," said Connolly, "what everybody means—what Ziegfeld meant—a beauty."

And then there, talking of chorus-girls, the plumpish and affable Mr. Connolly took his life into his hands by naming the greatest

DRUG RETRESS CLAIMS KIDNAP

Chicago, Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Lizzett Willis obtained a warrant today charging her former husband, John MacGregor Willis, with kidnapping the two children whose custody had been awarded her by two court decisions.

Willis had been ordered to yield the children to her today. Instead, he was missing from his home and it was reported he had taken Jane, 6, and Anne, 2, to Mexico.

Mrs. Willis is a member of the Lizzett Drug Store family. She had taken the children to her Swampscott, Mass., home after obtaining a divorce and custody of Jane and Anne in December.

His petition was denied, but Judge Joseph Sabath directed Mrs. Willis to keep the children in Cook County within the court's jurisdiction.

BRUINS EDGE SHORE'S RETURN MAT SAVE BACON

By BILL GRIMES

As the National Hockey League clubs approach the two-thirds mark of their season, the Bruins are nine points in arrears of third place in the American division, an almost unsurmountable handicap, in view of the fact that they have only 19 more games.

It has come to such a point that the Bruins are even against the Chicago Blackhawks, who have been out of the league since last place in the Eastern division in overtime last night.

There were four N. H. L. games played last night. The Rangers and Detroit were ducked at the top of the American division, with Chicago in third place by a full game. The Rangers swamped the Senators 4 to 1 in Chicago, and are now in full possession of the leading berth, but the best Red Wings were able to do with the Americans was to divide the points, and are now trailing the Blue Shirts by half a game.

The Rangers' win and the Detroit tie, of course, affected the Bruins to some extent but it was the Chicago victory that cost them some valuable ground.

Had the Canadiens come through with a win, the Bruins would have had seven points out of a play off berth, but when Paul Thompson popped in that deciding goal, he opened up the game between the Gorman group and the Bostonians.

PLAYED 23 GAMES

With the exception of the Toronto Maple Leafs, all N. H. L. teams have now played 23 games. They have but 19 games to play. The Bruins have four and a half games to make up before they can overtake Chicago. And, moreover, three of their next six games will be played away from home and three of these contests will be against teams in their own division, which leaves but four points.

Between Sunday night's game with the Rangers and the end of next week's Western trip, the fate of the Bruins may be decided. The Boston outfit will be at the strength for the first time in six weeks against Rangers. The Adams has stated that Eddie Shore will return to the Bruins on Sunday night.

Eddie may be able to snap the Bruins out of their slump but the Rangers are at the peak of their game for the first time this season and will be a tough opponent for the Bruins.

After meeting the Rangers here next Tuesday, the Bruins start West, where they will meet Detroit and Chicago and will return home for another tussle with the Americans, a troublesome contest of late.

MARoons RECOVER

The Montreal Maroons came back, after taking on 8 to 4 annihilating in Toronto on Tuesday and 6 to 0 in the Forum, to win 6 to 1 in the Forum. It is by far the worst defeat the N. H. L. champions have suffered this season but by the law of averages, they have it coming to them for they have beaten Maroons four in a row.

Baldy Northcott, the Maroon wing, was the star of the game, netting a goal in every end, and passes from Fieley Smith, and finds one in a combination with Jimmie Ward.

The Bruins Cubs are rapidly attaining the variety of the Maroons, after two defeats in Quebec, they came back last night and beat the New Haven Eagles, 6 to 0, and regained first place in the Can-Am League. The Cubs have been playing great hockey all season, losing only eight games out of 24, four of which were in Quebec.

The Bruins will leave for New York today, but the Cubs will rest up for tomorrow night's game with the Rhode Island Reds in Providence.

Y. M. H. A.-Lions Play Tomorrow

The Boston Y. M. H. A. basketball team will meet the Jordan Marsh Lions at the Seaver St. gym tomorrow night. Included in the lineup are former college stars, among whom are Cyp Hill and Al Peckham, of the Springfield Independents. In a preliminary tilt the Dillon Club of Cambridge meets the Y. M. H. A. Jayves.

TAP'S TIPS

T. L. CALL DRAWS

Paul Thompson may have knocked his brother Tiny and the Bruins out of the playoff, but the Bruins are not the only team to be knocked out of the playoffs. The Chicago Blackhawks are a 2 to 1 victory over the Canadiens. The Chicago team has put the Boston team nine points out of third place in the American division.

For a week, Bill Stewart and Ag Smith have been cruising around between Detroit, Toronto and Chicago and will not be back home until Monday. They are in great demand all around the N. H. L. circuit.

After scoring three times against the Toronto Maple Leafs, Baldy Northcott, the Maroons' winger, should hit on high for the remainder of the season. Northcott is a goal getter, but he has been off all year. Now he has come back and put the Boston team nine points out of third place in the American division.

The Maple Leafs are entitled to a scoring slump, and therefore

FATE WILL BE DECIDED ON NEXT WESTERN TRIP

Rounding Into Shape

Here in Eddie Shore whose gleaming steel-shod feet may cut a victory aisle open for the ailing Bruins when he rejoins the club in New York Sunday night against the Rangers. Shore has been out of action since Dec. 12, when he collided with Ace Bailey at the Garden. And since then the Bruins have been slipping. Shore may carry the punch the club needs if it is to climb in the N. H. L. (Boston American staff photo.)

Passing the Puck

By BILL GRIMES

Now that the Bruins Cubs are again leading the Canadian-American League, the Rhode Island Reds have an extra incentive to beat Philadelphia tomorrow night in the Quaker City. If the Reds beat the Arrows they will be in a position to battle the Cubs for the Can-Am lead on Sunday night in Providence.

Since the inception of the Canadian-American League, the Cubs have been, by far, the best all-around team. They have won 10 of their 11 games, and have scored 40 goals in 11 games. The Cubs have played to capacity houses, but a new high is expected on Sunday, especially as the league lead depends upon the outcome.

Manager Jean Dubuc, who is also the majority stock holder of the Providence Club, is angling for Ty Anderson, the Lynn boy, who is playing with the Atlantic City Sea Gulls. Dubuc picked up a star in Andy Mulligan, and if he secures Anderson, his club will be sitting pretty for defense men.

Coach Joe Gilmore had the right prediction for he came out flat footed upon his return from Quebec that his Bruins Cubs would knock off the New Haven Eagles and regain first place in the Can-Am League. If, as Coach Joe Gilmore states, the Cubs played even better hockey against the Reds than they did last night, there must be something going on in Quebec.

Paul Thompson may have knocked his brother Tiny and the Bruins out of the playoffs, but the Bruins are not the only team to be knocked out of the playoffs. The Chicago Blackhawks are a 2 to 1 victory over the Canadiens. The Chicago team has put the Boston team nine points out of third place in the American division.

For a week, Bill Stewart and Ag Smith have been cruising around between Detroit, Toronto and Chicago and will not be back home until Monday. They are in great demand all around the N. H. L. circuit.

After scoring three times against the Toronto Maple Leafs, Baldy Northcott, the Maroons' winger, should hit on high for the remainder of the season. Northcott is a goal getter, but he has been off all year. Now he has come back and put the Boston team nine points out of third place in the American division.

The Maple Leafs are entitled to a scoring slump, and therefore

THRILLS IN SPORTS

They Found Him Dead! He Had Been a Great in a Shack—Dead of Hunger and Cold.

By Jack Kofod

The shack along the railroad was one of those rickety frame affairs with plenty of space between the boards for the icy wind to whip through. I know how cold those dumps can be for I spent time in a hastily constructed wooden barracks at Fort Sumner during the blizzard of 1913. I slept . . . or tried to sleep . . . wearing my overcoat and wrap leggings and the rest of my Army equipment, including two blankets, and shivered all night long.

Of course, this railroad box was not intended for human habitation. The workers stored their picks and shovels there. But sometimes when the blizzard huddled into the shack to get a little protection from the icy winds several men approached the shack. A gray dawn had broken with a threat of more bad weather in its lowering case. The men were grouchy, as men are apt to be so early in the day. True, they had hot coffee in their stomachs . . . but even coffee could not overcome the bone-penetrating chill.

"Better have a drink in there," said one, jerking his head toward the hut.

The other grumbled an assent, and opened the door. For a moment they could see nothing in the gray bloom. Then . . .

"Hey, there's a guy on the wall!"

A flashlight sprayed a soft yellow glow on the upturned face . . . a broken nose, dark, sunken eyes, the pale cheeks sunken with hunger.

"Gosh, the poor guy's stiff as a mackerel! Froze to death. I reckon . . .

"Yeah, and from the looks of him he hadn't anything to eat for awhile before he died, either."

"Say, Mike," said the grumbler. "Look at that fellow's ears." "I see 'em. Well, call 'em what you like."

"Do you recognize him?"

"Well . . . he does seem kinda familiar. I've seen him somewhere or other."

"Hell, bells! I'd say he looks familiar. Why, that's Jimmy Clabby!"

They stooped and peered into the dead face again.

"Yes, sure, Bob, it is Clabby!"

"Well, now, ain't that too bad! I saw that guy fight a dozen times. What he could do to the middleweights around these parts would be a sin and a shame. He was a real tough one. Frank Kins, George Chalk, Jack Dillon, Les Darcy, all of 'em. And look at the way he had to wind up."

"Yes, it's too bad," grunted the other. "But there ain't nothing we can do for him now . . . except report what we found, and have him carried off to the morgue. Let's go."

The closed door of the shack rattled and went on down the tracks.

Jimmy Clabby!

He Visited Dempsey

The last time I saw Jimmy was when Jack Dempsey was training for the second round fight at the Lincoln Fields race track near Chicago. Jimmy came out to say hello to the Manassa Mauler, and shake his hand. He was shabby and down on his luck . . . and I remember that Jimmy slipped him a twenty dollar bill to help him over the current rough spot.

I had a little talk with Jimmy myself. His hands were the worst I had ever seen fighting man. Every knuckle had been broken and jammed up into the back of his hand. He wasn't punch drunk. He was a dull, heavy look in his eyes . . . which might have come from poverty and disillusionment. Jimmy didn't crab about his bad luck . . . probably because he was used to it by that time. As a matter of fact, he even managed to feel sorry for another fighter who was a star in his time.

That was George Knudsen Brown, who also had been a famous middleweight. Brown was out at Lincoln Fields, too, in a wheel chair head and arms jerking . . . a physical and almost a mental wreck. The man who shot, glared and snarled during the war, and then, moping, twitching frame was all that was left of a once great athlete.

"Too bad about George," said Jimmy Clabby. "I'm up against it anyway. I can take care of myself."

Take care of himself? What chance did this broken down fighting man, who knew how to handle no tools but his fists, have to the care of himself. Millions of men . . . trained in professions and trades . . . couldn't find work. How could he?

A Rendezvous With Death

I wonder what he thought about the night he slouched into the dirty little shack to find some succor from the bitter weather. His belly was empty . . . his body blue with cold. Did his mind go back twenty years and see himself a husky boy of twenty-two, traveling from coast to coast, fighting the best men in his class . . . complacently acknowledging the cheers that rolled up to him from a hundred ringides? Did he think of his trip to Australia, where he fought twenty-bripping, savage rounds with Les Darcy, one of the midweight champions? In those days he could not have imagined that he would ever wind up like this.

The shack was intolerably cold. He pulled his shabby coat tighter around him . . . and would have traded all his memories for a bed in a cheap house and a bowl of soup. Alone . . . utterly alone . . . the man who had been a fight hero. Not even a hobo to bear him company in his last hours.

Forty-two years old . . . an age when a man should be coming most strongly into his own . . . and he, with an empty belly, and Death, with a merciless scowl, keeping a rendezvous in a dirty little railroad shack.

That was the end of Jimmy Clabby. A few hours later the workmen found his body . . . and the corner guy casually filled out a certificate giving the cause of death as "exposure and malnutrition."

What an epitaph for a great fighting man!

B. & M. PROFIT FOR YEAR IS $321,570

Greater Efficiency in Operation of Big Carrier Noted

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor, Boston American
Boston & Maine reports in the Black Book for 1934 that its operating profit for the year ended December 31, 1934, was $321,570, a record for the company.

President Paul W. Littlefield of Goodyear, who is in charge of the company's operations, said that the increase in profit was due to the greater efficiency in the operation of the big carrier.

Mr. Littlefield said that the company's operations were more efficient than in previous years, and that the increase in profit was due to the greater efficiency in the operation of the big carrier.

New York, Jan. 26—Specialties held the spotlight in today's rather ragged stock market and a num-

The financial district was impressed by the country's foreign trade showing for December. A 4 per cent increase over November in the value of exports and imports represented a rise against the usual seasonal trend. Ordinarily the Department of Commerce stated the value of exports falls off about 8 per cent in December

Activity was further restricted in the second hour and price changes largely inconsequential. Utilities were narrow and quiet by

Price variations in the third hour ruled irregular. Allied Chemical was up two points, American Safety Razor rose over two. Point

Buicks Arrive for N. E.

"Indicative of the pulse of public demand and the utmost confidence which the officials of Noyes Buick Company have in a general business recovery—an entire trainload of 1934 Buick cars arrived in Boston Tuesday from the factory at Flint, Michigan.

"The order for this shipment was recently placed by the Buick Motor Company for A. B. Connelly, sales manager of Noyes Buick, so that New England dealers can make immediate delivery of the 1934 Buicks already covered by the steady accumulation of retail orders.

"It was obvious from the very first day on which the 1934 Buicks were shown to the public, says Mr. Connelly, "that the demand for them was going to be far ahead of the available supply for quite some time to come. We have already been dealers of placing New England Buick dealers in a position where they take care of motorists' requirements in the New England market—and therefore we ordered this trainload of new cars so that the increasing large number of people who are already desiring to enjoy the outstanding advantages which the 1934 Buicks offer need not have to wait for the delivery of their new cars. Buick factory production is being stepped-up to meet the country-wide demand for the new cars—and we are leaving no stone unturned in our efforts to have every dealer in this territory properly supplied with cars for New England buyers."

AUTO CHIEF HAS WILLYS FUNDS
FAITH IN U. S. SHOW FAVOR

"The automobile industry has shown its faith in industrial recovery by expenditures amounting to millions of dollars in advertising new models to the public of the New York, Cleveland and Detroit divisions.

"H. G. Mook, general manager of the Plymouth Motor Co., said that the industry is not marking the 1934 automobile show at a slump.

A Girl Enters the Mystery

Once-Overs

In an effort to create an impression of happy companionship, many married couples overdo this matter till there is a suspicion that the opposite condition exists. And folks have a right to be skeptical.

It is not the law of human nature for a couple to have lived together for many years and yet disagree.

play an unusual interest in each other when in company. Through many years they have become so used to the extent that they don't bill and coo, unless it be for the purpose of dissimulation.

But deception of this kind is better than manifest irritability or boredom in the presence of others.
